Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 14 January 2003.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. In light of applicant's statements, i.e., "the present invention concerns natural products which are notoriously unpredictable" and "the fact that particular natural product, i.e., juniper berry oil, at one concentration may provide flavoring properties, or aid in digestion or cure for various stomach ailments [] would, when used at very different concentration, provide a completely and unrelated different property," it appears that applicant has not fully disclosed what amounts of what types of juniper berry oil are necessary to practice the instant invention. See page 3 and 4 of the Jan. 14th 2003 response.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 1761

Again, the claims are indefinite because the phrase "juniper oil" appears to correspond to an indefinite extract from juniper berries and therefore it is not clear what exactly is being added. See comments below.

Again, claims 2 and 3 are indefinite because the scope of the term "aging" is unknown. See comments below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Trees for Life (www.treesforlife.org.uk/tfl.mythjuniper.html) for the reasons set forth in the last Office action.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 07/07/03 and 04/07/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant states that he is confused as to why the term "aging" could be indefinite when it has been previously used in patented claims. In response, it is noted that a relative term which renders the claim indefinite when the term is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention. Without a detailed review of the cited patents' prosecution, it is not clear whether the term "aging" was found to be defined in the respective specifications. Further, a term can be found definite when it is clear on the record that the inclusion of that term in the claim is not pertinent to the claim's patentability.

Applicant also asserts that the use of the phrase "juniper oil" in patented claims demonstrates that its use in the instant claims is proper and not indefinite. Again, as stated above, the prosecution history of the cited patents is not on the record and, second, from said phrases' use in dependent claims, it appears that its recitation was not a patentable distinction, as it is here. Therefore, its use is considered to make the claims indefinite.

With regard to the prior art rejection, based on the Trees for Life reference, applicant argues that it only teaches adding juniper berry oil for flavoring purposes. Applicant has missed the teaching of using juniper berry oil for medicinal purposes and it would have been obvious to add it at any effective amount for said purposes.

Applicant states that "juniper berries can be added as fresh or dried berries or as an oil or oil extract . . . or the juniper berry oil can be added as an oil or oil extract." (Page 5 of instant specification). Depending on what type of additive is used would determine the effects of the additive. As this is the crux of the applicant's invention, it is critical that the metes and bounds of the juniper berry oil be determined.

Conclusion

Art Unit: 1761

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
